That "Wise Old City," Montgomery, Ala., was delighted with the performance of the Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette, and from the collection of testimonials from the most excellent of people we clip the following from that sterling gentleman and scholar, Rev. Dr. W. Dudley Powers, Rector of St. John's Chapel: "Your entertainment was very satisfactory to those who saw it, and has received warm compliments from all to whom I have spoken. I regard it as a refined, artistic and pleasant entertainment. To me your company gave exceptional pleasure, and I shall always be glad to give any word of commendation that may be of service to you." In Defence of the Mormons.

Strong Criticism of the action of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

By Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of Edmonton.

(Canadian Courier)

The discussion with regard to Mormonism and polygamy will not down, The subject seems so important that early last summer the "Canadian Courier" sent a special commissioner to Southern Alberta to write a series of articles on Mormonism in Canada. That commissioner was Miss Nan Moulton, a well known Winnipeg journalist. Her instructions were to describe things as she saw them, and to speak on behalf of the Mormons or condemn them as the evidence warranted. She found them a peaceful, progressive and hard-working people, but she also discovered that in their colleges and churches they were preaching polygamy. As for the practice of polygamy, she found that it was being done in the most carefully hidden. On the whole her investigation made her feel that Mormonism, as a religion, was a menace to Christianity if not to Canadian civilization as a whole.

The Presbyterian Church has taken up the fight and is encouraging opposition to Mormonism as a religion. As recently as October 1909, when the date of the Mormonism was delivered in a Presbyterian church in Ottawa, by a man who claims that his father was a Mormon with two wives. He stated that the Mormons have not and cannot stop polygamy. "To do so would be to acknowledge that Joseph Smith is a false prophet."

The following article, by a well known Alberta writer, living in the city of Edmonton, presents the other side of the case. Mrs. Murphy is as good a witness as Nan Moulton. Their conflicting testimony only goes to show that this is a peculiar case and one well worthy serious study.

The recent ungenerous, hasty and ill-considered action of the Presbyterian General Assembly of Canada in regard to the Mormon Colony of the Province of Alberta has been received in Western Canada with extreme disapprobation.

The Assembly has placed itself on record in favor of an active campaign against the Mormons. Mark you! not because the Mormons are law-breakers (for they are probably the most law-abiding community in Western Canada), but because the principles of their religion is not wholly to the taste of the General Assembly. This is the identical spirit of the Galilean's self-willed deceptions who said of a certain miracle worker, "We forbade him because he followed not with us."

Perhaps I made an error in saying "the identical spirit." Substituting the word "Mormon" for "Carthage," the spirit is rather that of Cicero, who ended all his speeches with the declaration, "Carthage must be destroyed."

He who runs may read that the General Assembly has been drawn into a regrettable and untenable position, and has need to whistle in its dogs with as much despatch as possible. The position it has assumed is not consonant with the spirit of Protestantism. Not many years have passed since six women who embraced the Roman Catholic religion were expelled from their country by the Swedish government. It is mark-worthy that in England, the most pronounced opponents of Catholicism drew up an address protesting against this intolerant action of the Swedes, which address was signed by the Archbishop of Canterbury. In it the expatriation of the women was denounced as an outrage on the first principles of Protestantism. As a result of this address, the women were recalled by the Archbishop of Canterbury. In it the expatriation of the women was denounced as an outrage on the first principles of Protestantism. As a result of this address, the women were recalled by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

In some respects, to the campaign the Assembly has declared itself in favor of, I here submit it for their respectful consideration. Too many people have had to lay down their lives for the vindication of liberty of opinion in matters religious for us to hold the principle lightly, and it should not be necessary for any Protestant body to be so reminded.

Neither is it consonant with the national spirit of Canada. Canadians must not array church against church, or direct feud against those under our own roof-tops. Such a course is the sowing of dragon's teeth that will presently arise and rend the national life. Without our gates, we have welcomed all classes, all nationalities, all creeds, irrespective of their political or religious opinions, the only act of disability being against the Chinese. The sole restriction we lay upon those who have come into our country is that they shall implicitly obey the laws. Should they fail in this particular, it is the duty of the State to punish them and not that of any church.

Before being allowed access to Canada, the Mormons agreed with the Federal Government to obey the Canadian law by abstaining from the practice of polygamy. If they have failed in the keeping of this agreement, the church has merely to bring the instances to the attention of the Hon. C. R. Mitchell, of Edmonton, the Attorney-General of the Province of Alberta, who must see to it that the charges are investigated by the Royal North-West Mounted Police.

Have the Mormons kept this agreement and obeyed the law? For answer, I shall quote from a brochure on Mormonism which has been issued by the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church. "Polygamy," it says, "has not yet shown its hand in Canada. Canada's marriage laws are even more strict than the education laws, and the Mormon settlers are generally inclined to respect them. There are many of the younger race of Mormons who will speak out frankly but against the doctrine and its practice, but so long as the Mormon Church refuses to disavow its belief in polygamy, and keep the doctrine as a divine revelation in its sacred books, so long Canada has a right to feel anxious, lest in sheltering this curious sect, she may be nourishing something which may later become a menace to her own peace.

Hearken now to that! These people are not polygamists, but some of them believe in it, hence Canada should not shelter them because, in a problematic future, there is some vague possibility of their practising it.

But why does the General Assembly object to the Mormons? Even the Rev. Dr. McLaren, of Vancouver, who is the leader of the campaign, has confessed that, as a rule, they are a sober and industrious people. No settlers that have come into Canada have been nearly so prosperous in the same period. The Woman's Home Missionary Society have acknowledged this. They have written that "The Mormon system of tithing for the benefit of the community has made them among the most profitable settlers industrially, that any country could have. Their towns grow up rapidly; their farms are admirably managed and both alike are prosperous in a wonderful degree. In Alberta, they are profitably growing wheat and fruit, making beet sugar, and stock-raising, and such good farmers are they, that they have once or twice secured the best prices ever known in Southern Alberta."

Why, then, do the Presbyterians object to them as residents? Their chief objection would seem to arise from the fact that the Church has been successful in making converts among them. Their mission to the Mormons has been a flat failure and the Church is now in the position of having to support expensive and unprofitable posts or else retire in humiliation from a field upon which they entered with a very considerable assurance.

My proof of this assertion is to be found in the same brochure quoted above: "To offset the spread of this alien creed," it further states, "the Christian churches of Canada have established churches right in the heart of the Mormon settlements. Our own Church has two mission fields in Cardston and Raymond, with outposts. The work is among the most difficult which the Church has undertaken, the Mormon influence is so overwhelming and the Gentile population is so small and isolated. Yet there is encouragement in the fact that there have been some converts from Mormonism."

The reader may urge at this point that the Woman's Missionary Society may not be sufficient to express an opinion on the matter. The point would not be well made, but allowing it to stand, I would turn to a paper read by the Rev. A. N. Gordon, of Lethbridge, several years ago before the General Assembly of the Church.

"MADAM SHERRY"

"Madame Sherry," the musical comedy rage of New York this season which, after six months of unprecedented success in Chicago, is now attracting sensational attendance at the New Amsterdam Theatre and promising to remain all year or even longer in Manhattan, will be at Magrath Nov. 14th. The announcement that a success of the magnitude of "Madame Sherry" is to be offered in this city at the very height of its metropolitan favor has naturally stirred up local interest to an unusual degree, and every indication is for a phenomenally successful engagement. Managers Woods, Frazee, and Lederer have maintained a twin organization at the New Amsterdam Theatre, the members of which have been interchanging performance, and it is one of these splendid companies which will be seen here. In every detail the performance is a duplicate of the big New York production, and it is coming here with all the splendor of cast, chorus, stage setting and special orchestra.

A STATUS WITHOUT IN CONCRETE

Reinforced concrete as a construction material is coming more and more into favor. Recently for pressed into service for stanchion supports, a fine piece of work, this material having been completely recently applied in France. The structure which is forty-eight feet high, carries a pedestal twenty-four feet in height, the total height of the monument being forty-eight feet. It was designed originally that the statue should rest in iron, but difficulties arose with the design, so that it was decided ultimately to ascertain the possibility of reinforced concrete. It was a task heretofore with numerous and peculiar difficulties, but there were overcome as they arose, and the statue resembles in every way a piece of work in stone. The statue was divided into four parts—namely, the cylindrical base, a vertical column, the pedestal, and the statue itself. The connection of the pedestal with the statue is a special link to support the spillover of the statue. The statue is eighty tons. The perfection of the work has aroused considerable interest, the statue having the appearance of having been carved from a solid block of stone.

THE THAMES

(By Sidney Hinks)

What appeals to one in the Thames more than anything else is its ceaseless flow. Mr. Henry James once asked if the English could really be said to be a nation. If so, he said, it must be the tidal river of the Thames, which is the only river in the world that flows in two directions. It is the only river in the world that flows in two directions. It is the only river in the world that flows in two directions.
